

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA
School of Social Work
Course Outline - SOWK 521 – Social Work Practice in Addictions
3 Credits

The UBC School of Social Work acknowledges that we are located on the traditional, ancestral, and unceded territory of the xʷməθkʷəy̓əm (Musqueam) people.

School Vision: Building upon a foundation of social justice and an ethic of care, we are a community of learners actively engaged in the development of critical, transformative knowledge for social work practice.

MSW Mission: The MSW program offers an accessible, advanced professional degree focused on social work practice in the fields of child and family welfare, health and social care, and international and social development, using a social justice lens. The purpose of this MSW program is to prepare our graduates to be competent social work professionals, equipped with state-of-the-art knowledge and skills, a critical analytic lens, and a social justice orientation.

During this pandemic, the shift to online learning has greatly altered teaching and studying at UBC, including changes to health and safety considerations. Keep in mind that some UBC courses might cover topics that are censored or considered illegal by non-Canadian governments. This may include, but is not limited to, human rights, representative government, defamation, obscenity, gender or sexuality, and historical or current geopolitical controversies. If you are a student living abroad, you will be subject to the laws of your local jurisdiction, and your local authorities might limit your access to course material or take punitive action against you. UBC is strongly committed to academic freedom, but has no control over foreign authorities (please visit <http://www.calendar.ubc.ca/vancouver/index.cfm?tree=3,33,86,0> for an articulation of the values of the University conveyed in the Senate Statement on Academic Freedom). Thus, we recognize that students will have legitimate reason to exercise caution in studying certain subjects. If you have concerns regarding your personal situation, consider postponing taking a course with manifest risks, until you are back on campus or reach out to your academic advisor to find substitute courses. PREREQUISITE and/or COREQUISITE

There are no prerequisites for this course.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course will provide participants with a theoretical, ethical and skills foundation for advanced social work practice in the field of addiction. The essentials of direct practice in the context of the structural, political and policy dimensions of addiction will be emphasized. A trauma-informed approach, strengths-based perspective, and harm reduction orientation to addiction will be applied.

The course is divided into three main parts: (1) definition of addiction and recovery, and focus on substance addiction; current and historical patterns in addiction and drug policy; effects of illicit, legally available and medicinal drugs; an overview of concurrent disorders; (2) etiology of addiction; and current and historical responses to drug use and addiction; overview of abstinence- versus harm reduction-based approaches to practice in the field of addiction; (3) mainstream and emergent models of practice at the individual, family, group, community, organizational and policy levels. Several practice models to addiction treatment will be examined, with an emphasis on strengths-based harm reduction psychotherapy and motivational enhancement therapy.

Participation in this course will allow students to familiarize themselves with the concept of addiction from a range of theoretical perspectives, with an emphasis on a biopsychosocial-spiritual/ecological understanding of addiction, strengths-based harm reduction as a practice orientation, and the transtheoretical model as a form of meta-theory.

The course will emphasize the perspective of people struggling with addiction, and the social responsibilities of service providers to the needs of addiction service consumers.

RATIONALE:

Social workers in virtually all areas of practice deal with individuals, families and communities who have problems related to addiction. Social workers can play a role in policy development, health education and promotion, direct provision of addiction-specific services (including treatment services), provision of harm reduction services, assessment, referral/linkage, mobilization of self-help, mediation, advocacy, community development, and research.

The voices of service consumers have been largely absent in the dominant addiction discourse, but this is changing. This course offers an opportunity for social work students to be exposed not only to service providers but also people struggling with addiction. The course thus seeks to provide a bridge between social work students (and practitioners) and users / consumers of services.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

1. To acquire knowledge in relation to:
 - (1) the core concepts in the field of addiction; historical and political context of addiction and drug policy
 - (2) various theories related to etiology and treatment of addiction;
 - (3) the principles of drug action and the physical and psychological effects of the major drugs of abuse (including stimulants, narcotics, hallucinogens, marijuana, alcohol, nicotine, and prescription drugs); bio-physiological mechanisms of addiction.
 - (4) the roles and fields of practice of social workers in the field of addiction;
 - (5) a trauma-informed, harm reduction and strengths-based orientation to practice.
 2. To develop an ethical foundation for advanced practice in the field of addiction, by examining a range of current debates and ethical dilemmas in the addiction field.
 3. To develop skills in relation to:
 - (1) engagement of those who are affected by substance and other addictions;
 - (2) assessment of those affected by substance and other addictions;
 - (3) intervention with those affected by substance and other addictions;
 - (4) intervention at the individual, family, community, organizational, institutional, and public policy levels with respect to substance and other addictions.

UNIVERSITY POLICIES:

“Regular attendance is expected of students in all their classes (including lectures, laboratories, tutorials, seminars, etc.). Students who neglect their academic work and assignments may be excluded from the final examinations. Students who are unavoidably absent because of illness or disability should report to their instructors on return to classes.” (UBC Calendar)

Support: UBC provides resources to support student learning and to maintain healthy lifestyles but recognizes that sometimes crises arise and so there are additional resources to access including those for survivors of sexual violence. UBC values respect for the person and ideas of all members of the academic community. Harassment and discrimination are not tolerated nor is suppression of academic freedom. UBC provides appropriate accommodation for students with disabilities and for religious observances. UBC values academic honesty and students are expected to acknowledge the ideas generated by others and to uphold the highest academic standards in all of their actions.

Details of the policies and how to access support are available at

<https://senate.ubc.ca/policies-resources-support-student-success>

Academic Dishonesty: Please review the UBC Calendar “Academic regulations” for the university policy on cheating, plagiarism, and other forms of academic dishonesty. Also visit www.arts.ubc.ca and go to the students’ section for useful information on avoiding plagiarism and on correct documentation.

Retaining Assignments: Students should retain a copy of all submitted assignments (in case of loss) and should also retain all their marked assignments in case they wish to apply for a Review of Assigned Standing. Students have the right to view their marked examinations with their instructor, providing they apply to do so within a month of receiving their final grades. This review is for pedagogic purposes. The examination remains the property of the university.

SUBMITTING ASSIGNMENTS:

Assignments are due as noted in this course outline, unless otherwise informed by the instructor. All assignments are to be submitted directly to the course instructor.

RETURN OF MARKED STUDENT ASSIGNMENTS:

Assignments will be marked with comments by the instructor.

LATE ASSIGNMENTS:

Generally, late assignments will not be accepted. In emergency situations, students must discuss any potential lateness with their instructor and be prepared to have a medical certificate available. Assignments submitted after the deadline with no documentation will be penalized by one percentage point per day.

FORMAT OF THE COURSE:

Graduate seminar. SOWK 521 is an online practice course within the MSW program. Enrollment is restricted to students in the graduate program.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS, DUE DATES AND GRADING:

Assignments:

1. Online Participation: Weekly Postings

The online participation grade is based on the quality of required weekly postings to the online Discussion Fora, each no more than one page (double-spaced) in length. It is expected that students will make postings as required, and you will have access to each other's postings. There are also optional postings (i.e., commenting on other students' postings). Students will not be graded on the optional postings.

Evaluation of the postings will be based on the following criteria: use of relevant readings; engagement of the reader; succinct format and synthesis of material; writing competence; description of key concepts; demonstration of your understanding of key concepts; linkage to social work perspectives; creativity and originality; logic of your inquiry; and critical analysis. Above all, please pay careful attention to the posting instructions, and make sure you address the topics you are asked to address.

Note: You will receive feedback on your online postings after your first posting, halfway through the course, and at the conclusion of the course.

Weight: 25%

Date due:

Posting for Week 1: Fri., Sept. 11, 9:00 am (1%)
Posting for Week 2: Fri., Sept. 18, 9:00 am (2%)
Posting for Week 3: Fri., Sept. 25, 9:00 am (2%)
Posting for Week 4: Fri., Oct. 2, 9:00 am (2%)
Posting for Week 5: Fri., Oct. 9, 9:00 am (2%)
Posting for Week 6: Fri., Oct. 16, 9:00 am (2%)
Posting for Week 7: Fri., Oct. 23, 9:00 am (2%)
Posting for Week 8: Fri., Oct. 30, 9:00 am (2%)
Posting for Week 9: Fri., Nov. 6, 9:00 am (2%)
Posting for Week 10: Fri., Nov. 13, 9:00 am (2%)

2. Short Essay: Should Abstinence Always Be a Goal of Addiction Treatment?

This 6-8 page paper is intended as an opportunity to reflect on your feelings and reflections from study and/or observation of a mutual aid community-based group based on either an abstinence-oriented approach or a harm reduction-oriented philosophy. Although not mandatory for this assignment, students are encouraged to visit a program either online or in person. Please address the following in your paper:

- Describe the strengths of the program studied/observed.
- Critically outline the limitations of the program studied/observed.
- Link your analysis to social work theory, values and skills: what assumptions and values underpin the model/approach used? What theories inform the approach? What skill sets did you detect within the approach?
- After reflecting on your experience, please answer: Should Abstinence Always Be a Goal of Addiction Treatment? Provide a detailed rationale for your position.
