

School of Social Work

FACULTY OF ARTS

The UBC School of Social Work acknowledges that we are located on the traditional, ancestral, and unceded territory of the xʷməθkʷəy̓əm (Musqueam) people. The School logo designed by Ray Sims, a member of the Musqueam Nation, depicts Raven transforming into a human child. Raven is seen to be the most magical of all beings with the ability to shapeshift into anything at will. The most frequent form Raven takes is that of a human. Through adventures, Raven creates much of what we have around us. Humans learn much and acquire much knowledge of life and living through learning the orals associated with Raven's adventures and misadventures, for Raven intentionally, as well as inadvertently, has created much by making mistakes.

School Vision: Building upon a foundation of social justice and an ethic of care, we are a community of learners actively engaged in the development of critical, transformative knowledge for social work practice.*

School Mission Statement: Based on a commitment to fundamental social work values and a vision of social justice, UBC's School of Social Work prepares social work students for generalist and advanced professional practice. We promote the scholarly generation of critical transformative knowledge through research and study relevant to social work theories, practices, social development and social administration.*

MSW Mission

The MSW program offers an accessible, advanced professional degree focused on social work practice in the fields of child and family welfare, health and social care, and international and social development, using a social justice lens. The purpose of this MSW program is to prepare our graduates to be competent social work professionals, equipped with state-of-the-art knowledge and skills, a critical analytic lens, and a social justice orientation.

Prerequisite and/or Corequisite

There is no pre-requisite or course that is required to be taken concurrently.

Course Description

This course is designed to facilitate the integration of students' learning in their field practicum with their learning in practice, research, policy and theory courses. The purpose of the course is to promote advanced professional development. The course will provide students the opportunity to critically reflect upon their academic learning experiences, to analyze their development in their graduate studies, and to incorporate theories, policies, and practices into their work. This is a required course and is open only to graduate students in the School of Social Work.

Course Structure and Learning Activities

This course is a blended model which includes bi-weekly in-person seminars over two semesters and on-line work using UBC Canvas. Students will be expected to discuss their experiences within their practicum settings during in-person seminars. An objective of each class will be to:

- a) Identify and address issues that are arising in practicum setting;
- b) Begin to articulate the link between theory, course readings and advanced practice; and
- c) Use peer feedback for professional development.

Seminars may include work in dyads; small and large group activities; experiential exercises; reading and reflection; lectures; and guest speakers.

Additionally, students will meet with their faculty field liaison throughout the practicum. The number of individual meetings between the instructor and the student is subject to the individual student's learning needs but will normally include 2 – 3 site visits: one within about 4 weeks of the practicum start to develop and finalize learning objectives; a mid-term evaluation/discussion; and/or a final evaluation/review meeting. When there is not a site visit there will be a conference call with faculty liaison, field instructor and the student.

Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this course students will have developed an advanced understanding of their role as a graduate level social work practitioner through the integration of knowledge and skills from their courses and field education. The students will be able to:

- Demonstrate the integration of a social justice lens into practice at all levels.
- Demonstrate integration of advanced level practice and theory within their area of specialization.
- Demonstrate advanced comprehension of social work practice within their area of specialization.
- Articulate the role of social work values and ethics on the development and implementation of micro and macro interventions and social policy formulation.
- Demonstrate advanced level skills in self-reflection, self-awareness, and self-understanding in relation to the origins and foundations of their own world view as it influences their practice.
- Demonstrate the ability to critically reflect upon the ways in which practice, policy, and research inform their social work practice.
- Demonstrate an appreciation of human diversity—particularly in relation to persons of different mental or physical ability, age, culture, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, language and socio-economic group.

Required Textbook(s) and Learning Materials

Course readings will be assigned by the Instructor to reflect and respond to issues and needs that arise during the class.

UBC Canvas is the online management system used.

Course Schedule

First day of class will be field practicum orientation facilitated by Field Office on September 9, and regular in-class meetings begins on September 23 and runs every other week beginning September 23, 2022. Students are requested however to keep Friday afternoons available to accommodate special circumstances around scheduling changes/additional classes and site visits.

Assignments

Students will be awarded a grade based on the following three major assignments. There will be no formal examinations.

1. Integrating theory and practice, Total Weight 60% (1st semester 20%; 2nd semester 40%)

The purpose of this two-part assignment is to help students to document, reflect, and monitor their progress integrating theories with practice within the context of the practicum site.

1st semester assignment: Your practicum agency's approach to practice 20%

In a paper of 3- to 4-pages double-spaced (including citations), identify, discuss and critically analyze the social and/or psychological theories that appear to be guiding practice interventions in the agency in which you are working. Include specific examples related to your work within the organization and how theory informed your understanding and actions. If there appears to be no coherent theory in place, what is the implication of this lack of theory? Please describe implications of theory (or the lack of): 1) for clients; 2) for you as a social worker in training; and 3) for the organization. If appropriate, identify and discuss alternate approaches that you conclude would be better or best suited to the agency and why.

Due: November 25, 2022

Value: 20%

Criteria for grading:

- Students demonstrate understanding of what theoretical orientations are and how they manifest in an agency.

- Students are able to give specific practice examples to support their arguments.
- Students clearly analyze implications in practice.
- Students use APA, 7th edition, accurately.
- Papers are written clearly, succinctly, with excellent syntax and no punctuation or typographical errors.

2nd semester assignment: Case presentation 40%

Prepare for discussion in class a case study related to a situation/client with whom you are working. Discuss the lens/approach/theory that you are using to understand this case, and how it is informing your practice. Include a critical analysis including how different approaches may fit together. On the day of your presentation, distribute an annotated reference document with a minimum of 2 and no more than 4 references for the lens/approach/theory you are discussing. Each annotated reference is to be 4– 6 sentences.

Due: Schedule to be developed in early January.

Value: 40%

Criteria for grading: See grading rubric provided.

2. Bi-weekly reflective Journal, Weight 30%

Students are required to write and upload to Canvas a *one-page reflective paper on the following dates for term 1; September 30, October 28 & December 2.

The overall purpose of this assignment is to continually expand self-awareness and reflection.

Due: on weeks when there is no class

These entries will serve as a main way to keep the instructor aware of practicum progress and to share with the instructor your reflections on achievements, challenges, and overall work.

Due: As noted above.

Value: 30% (15% for term 1).

Criteria for grading:

- Demonstrates integrity and ethical behavior in practicum and in the reporting of activities.
- Writes clearly and succinctly, uses appropriate syntax, no typing errors.
- Provides both a descriptive and analytic lens to the work being done in practicum.
- Demonstrates the effective use of supervision and peer consultation.

3. Participation, Weight 10%

Student participation and attendance are essential to individual learning and to the success of the course. As the seminar is student driven, each student is expected to be involved actively and to share experiences in classroom. Students are expected to be critically reflective and to engage in the collaborative learning process. Students are also expected to support the learning of classmates by encouraging their participation, hearing their perspectives, and giving feedback (respecting the confidentiality of the shared material). This portion of the grade is based upon attendance and active participation in all aspects of the course. Missing three or more classes over the period of the course (i.e. both semesters combined) may result in a grade of zero.

SCHOOL/COURSE POLICIES

COVID-19

The School follows UBC health and safety guidelines. Please see <https://covid19.ubc.ca/> for current information and guidance.

Attendance

The attendance policy is in the student handbook on page 8. You can find the student handbook on the Advising page of our website: <https://socialwork.ubc.ca/undergraduate/advising/>

The School considers class attendance to be an essential component of integrated learning in professional social work education. Therefore, regular attendance is required in all social work courses. Instructors may count repeated late arrivals or early departures as an absence, and a meeting should be setup to discuss this with the student. If students miss three or more classes, they may be considered to have not met the requirements of the course. If students have valid reasons, they could be withdrawn from the course with the approval of the instructor – otherwise, they would fail the course.

Other school policies can be accessed through the School of Social Work student handbook.

Learning Resources

UBC Learning Commons has a variety of tools and information such as; borrowing equipment, academic integrity, APA Citation Guide, writing support, skills for class, skills for life and academic support to assist students in their learning. <https://learningcommons.ubc.ca/>

University Policies

Support: UBC provides resources to support student learning and to maintain healthy lifestyles but recognizes that sometimes crises arise and so there are additional resources to access including those for survivors of sexual violence. UBC values respect for the person and ideas of all members of the academic community. Harassment and discrimination are not tolerated nor is suppression of academic freedom. UBC provides appropriate accommodation for students with disabilities and for religious observances. UBC values academic honesty and students are expected to acknowledge the ideas generated by others and to uphold the highest academic standards in all of their actions.

Details of the policies and how to access support are available at:
<https://senate.ubc.ca/policies-resources-support-student-success>

Learning Analytics

Learning analytics includes the collection and analysis of data about learners to improve teaching and learning. No learning analytics are being used in this course.

Copyright

All materials of this course (course handouts, lecture slides, assessments, course readings, etc.) are the intellectual property of the Course Instructor or licensed to be used in this course by the copyright owner. Redistribution of these materials by any means without permission of the copyright holder(s) constitutes a breach of copyright and may lead to academic discipline.

Students may not record class or group discussions without prior permission of all individuals in attendance.

Support

During the term, I will do my best to offer support if I am concerned about your academic performance or wellbeing. I also encourage you to contact me or your academic advisor if you need assistance. In addition, I may identify concerns using the UBC Early Alert system which provides students with the earliest possible connection to resources like academic advising, financial advising, counseling, or other support services to help you get back on track. Any information transmitted through early alert is treated as confidential (see earlyalert.ubc.ca).
